

Interview with Ally course students

Ms.LUO Yun jie From China

Graduate School of Health Sciences, Hokkaido University D3

Q. What is your current research?

A: Regarding the development and validation of an ICT-based intervention program for mental health promotion among Chinese immigrant women in Japan.

Q: Why did you decide to attend the Ally course?

A: When I was in the first year of my Ph.D., I became interested in working in an international institution. At that time, I saw the poster of the Ally course. It mentioned that can participate in a cooperative activity with international organizations, such as WHO and JICA. Thus, I decided to apply. The other reason is I wanted to practice my English.

Q: What was your most memorable experience, lecture, or event in the Ally course?

A: It was attending the SaSSOH student session. I was surprised that only Ph.D. students organized the student session from planning to carrying out. Besides, attending the student session was a joyful and professionally rewarding experience.

Q: How do you think your participation in the Ally course will help you in your future research?

A: It is challenging to solve health-related research problems only using knowledge from the nursing sciences. Based on my experiences in the Ally course, I can methodically examine research problems from different angles, systematically establish suitable study protocols, and comprehensively test possible solutions in my future research.

We wish you further success in your research and Ally course!!
